Greetings from the Division of Academic Affairs.

Dr. Luke Winslow continues tradition of excellence at SDSU

The School of Communication celebrates assistant professor Dr. Luke Winslow for his three published journal articles so far this year:

- “Doing more with less: Modeling neoliberal labor relations in Undercover Boss” in The Journal of Popular Culture
- “Pastors of profit: Marketplace ministries and the rhetorical acquisition of affective allegiance” in Communication and Critical/Cultural Studies
- “’Not exactly a model of good hygiene’: Theorizing an aesthetic of disgust in the Occupy Wall Street movement” in Communication and Critical/Cultural Studies

Kudos and Accolades

- Dr. Ricardo Vasconcelos, associate professor in the Department of Spanish and Portuguese Languages and Literatures, published an annotated critical edition of Mário de Sá-Carneiro’s complete poetry with the publisher Tinta-da-China (Lisbon, Portugal). The 700-page volume includes the author’s adult and youth poetry with poems never divulged before, an ample section of color facsimiles, and a section of appendices with new correspondence about the texts found in Sá-Carneiro’s room upon his death. A sample of the edition can be found here. SDSU currently hosts the website Mário de Sá-Carneiro online.
